

BROOKLYN NEWS.

MEYER LOST WIFE AND GOODS.

He Charges that His Boarder Even Took His Clothes.

Now He Is Shorn Closer Than a Spring Sheep.

Abram Meyer, of 48 South Fifth street, was in the Lee Avenue Court, Williamsburg, to-day, to apply for a warrant for the arrest of William Gregory on a charge of wrongfully withholding furniture.

Gregory boarded with Meyer, but about a week ago Gregory complained that Mrs. Meyer had decamped with $100 belonging to him, which he had given her for safe-keeping. Two days ago Meyer visited the Lee Avenue Court and announced that Gregory had moved all his (Meyer's) furniture out of the flat where he lived. Justice Downing issued a summons for Gregory to answer the charge of wrongfully withholding furniture, and the deserted husband decided to serve the papers himself.

This morning when Meyer came to court, his face was somewhat bruised, and his feelings seemed to be ruffled. "I want some kind of justice," he remarked. "Gregory is a beautiful liar, and he ought to be punished. He has taken away the money and all my furniture, but if he had left my clothes behind I would not have felt so bad."

"This fellow Gregory is living next door to my house, and I went there last night to get my things from him. The people there know me, although I do not know them, and they refused to let me in."

"Your wife took this poor fellow's money," said one high fellow, "now he has taken your furniture. What right have you to go after it? What right have you to go after it?"

He argued with them, but without effect. Then I tried to force my way into the house, and was thrown out. One of the fellows there told me that if I came again he would kill me."

Never laughed at Gregory's story that Mrs. Meyer stole $100 from him, he says that the wife and the boarder were on friendly terms, and that, so far as he knows, the two planned the move between them and got the furniture away could start up housekeeping without any trouble.

"I am afraid to get rid of my wife," he concluded. "I am afraid to get rid of my wife. That fellow Gregory has everything I own except the suit I have on."

CHASED THE RIVER THIEVES.

Crew of the Police Boat Judge Moore Have a Lively Run.

Skiff Captured Laden with Bags of Wool.

The crew of the Brooklyn police boat Judge Moore, had a lively chase after three river thieves early this morning. The thieves were sitting in a skiff loaded with cotton and wool when they were discovered. They got ashore and attempted to escape.

The police boat was cruising in the East River shortly before 2 o'clock. While passing under the bridge, Pilot Henry M. Sheppard saw the outlines of a skiff moving along near the shore at the foot of Rock street.

Sheppard notified the crew of his discovery and the boat was turned towards the skiff. The men in the skiff saw they were discovered, and pulled for the landing. They climbed up on the pier and ran away. The police boat ran alongside and policemen Brennan and Isolan watched the thieves.

The trio ran in and out behind bushes and barrels, and then separated and escaped. The boat which the thieves left behind was a fifteen-foot skiff, with three sets of oars. It was painted dark red, and loaded with several bags of wool, bearing the mark "K 220."

The police took the boat and its contents to the foot of Abbot street. It is thought that the gang and skiff are in some vessel and action the wool.

TRAPPED A BOSTON MAN.

He Was Wanted for Embezzling from His Firm.

Changed Residence Stealthily, but Could Not Evade Pursuit.

William S. Gledhill, thirty-five years old, was arrested by the Brooklyn police early this morning, charged with embezzling $500 from a manufacturing firm in Boston. The Boston police say that he has already been indicted by the Grand Jury, and he will be held until an officer arrives with requisition papers.

The Brooklyn police received a letter from Boston a week ago, saying that Gledhill was supposed to be living at 23 Bridge street, Brooklyn. The Boston police requested his arrest.

The police learned that a man answering Gledhill's description lived with his wife and child at the address given. Capt. Campbell placed several officers in cloths in the neighborhood to watch the house. Yesterday morning the warrant arrived. Capt. Campbell decided to wait until midnight to make a raid on the house.

Walker, who was on guard, saw an express wagon drive up to the house. The wagon was loaded with a quantity of household goods were loaded into the wagon. Then a woman came out leading a little child, and the driver wiped up his face with the driver's handkerchief.

Walker followed the wagon several blocks, but the driver wiped up his face with the driver's handkerchief. Walker noticed an address in Twenty-second street, and he reported it to Capt. Campbell, who learned that the goods had been removed to 267 Third street, near Fourth avenue, and that Gledhill had been seen to enter.

At 8 o'clock this morning the police entered the house and arrested the alleged embezzler as he was about to sit down to breakfast. He refused to make any statement, except to say that six or seven other persons were mixed up in the crime against the firm.

Joseph Pech, fourteen, of 224 East Seventy-third street; John Gannon, thirteen, of 567 East Seventy-fifth street; and Frank Tuck, twelve, of 144 East Seventy-sixth street, were caught at the bar of the Yorkville Court this morning.

Pollman Crocker, of the East Sixty-seventh street squad, caught them making their escape from the Jacobs Brothers cigar factory, 287 East Sixty-seventh street, where they had entered for purposes of burglary.

Since the arrest of Adolph S. one of the best known burglars in the city, the factory has been closed.

This morning Gannon found the factory closed. He tried to enter, but he was caught.

The officers proceeded to call on the door. He broke down the door, and he was caught.

At a side door, having let themselves out by means of a key, called another policeman, and begged the release.
